THE LA SALLE STORY

1863

Centennial Year

La Salle College celebrated its Centennial Year, marking 100 years of service to higher education and the Community of Philadelphia, during the 1962-63 Academic Year.

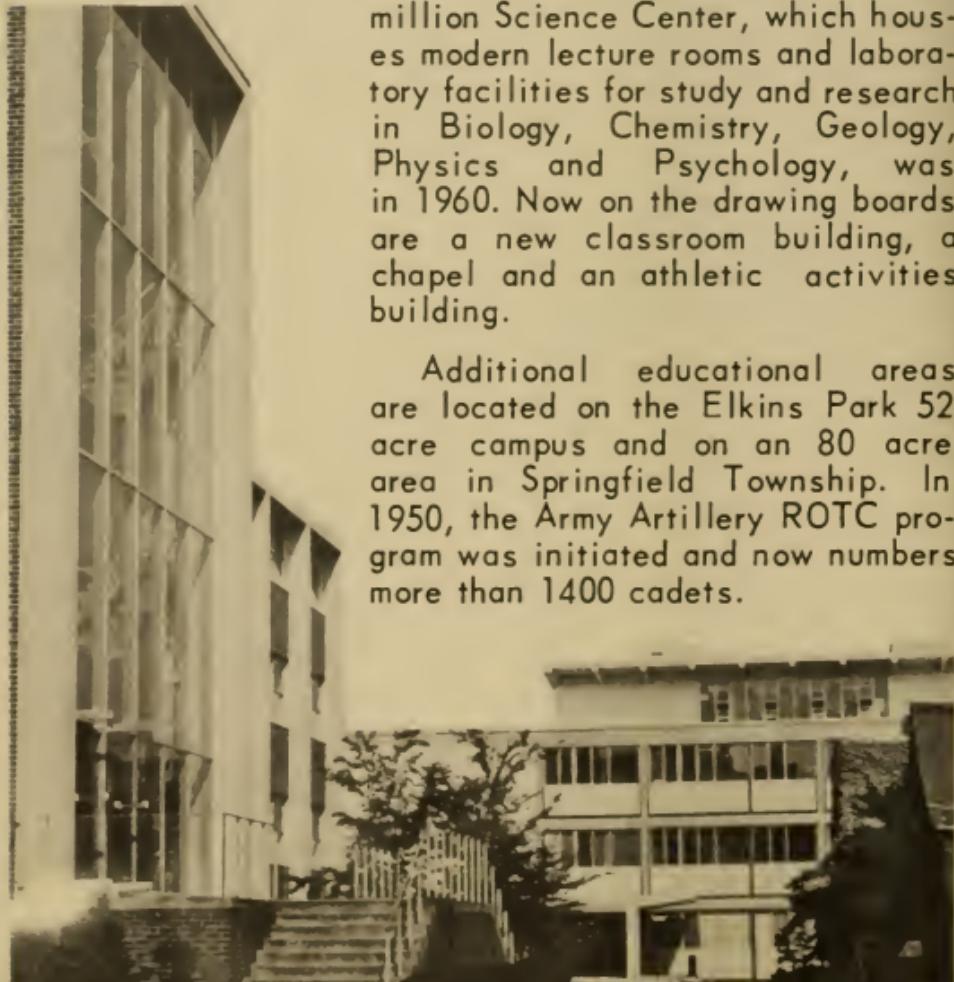

The College was founded March 20, 1863 by the Brothers of the Christian Schools. By 1929, having outgrown three previous locations in Philadelphia, the campus was moved to its present 30 acre site at 20th Street and Olney Avenue, in the Olney section of the city. The Evening Division was inaugurated in 1946 in response to the needs of industry throughout the metropolitan area.

Since 1945, La Salle has experienced the most dramatic period of expansion in its history. Present enrollment in both Day and Evening Divisions is over 5,500 students, as compared to 1940 enrollment of about 400. In the last 15 years, twelve new buildings have been added to the campus. Both the Day and Evening Divisions offer degree programs in Arts and Sciences and Business Administration.

Seven modern residence halls accommodate over 400 out of town students. The seventh unit opened in September, 1963. A $2 million, three story College Union Building, completed in 1959, includes a Little Theatre as well as dining halls, assembly rooms, ballroom and other student facilities. The $2.5 million Science Center, which houses modern lecture rooms and laboratory facilities for study and research in Biology, Chemistry, Geology, Physics and Psychology, was in 1960. Now on the drawing boards are a new classroom building, a chapel and an athletic activities building.

Additional educational areas are located on the Elkins Park 52 acre campus and on an 80 acre area in Springfield Township. In 1950, the Army Artillery ROTC program was initiated and now numbers more than 1400 cadets.

THE 1963-64 SEASON

Athletics Staff

James J. Henry

Director of Athletics

It might be considered somewhat ironic that James J. Henry should be Director of Athletics at La Salle College, a school that has not had a football team since 1941, for football has played a great part in Jim Henry's life.

Before being graduated from Villanova in 1930, Henry received All-American honorable mention as an end, and when he came to La Salle in 1930, he was soon named line coach, then head football coach in 1940 and 1941. In 1961 he was the president of the Eastern Intercollegiate Football Officials Association, and still officiates many of the nation's top grid contests, i.e., Navy-Notre Dame, Princeton-Harvard, Army-Navy.

Football, however, is only part of the story of Jim Henry, for he is a man devoted not merely to a single sport, but to athletics and what college athletics stand for. In his 33 years at La Salle, he has given of his time and energy equally for all sports; he coached the 1931 Explorer basketball team to a 15-4 record and started La Salle's crew, the first Catholic college crew in the nation. Other intercollegiate sports organized at La Salle during Henry's tenure as Athletic Director include soccer, cross-country, swimming, baseball, track, tennis, and golf. He also serves on the executive committee of the Middle Atlantic States Athletic Conference.

La Salle's athletic director since 1934, Henry received the honorary degree of doctor of law from the college in 1955 and is now professor of Finance on the faculty. He and his wife have three adult children, one of whom is a member of the Brothers of the Christian Schools, the teaching order that conducts La Salle.

Robert W. Walters

Head Basketball Coach
(First Season)

When Bob Walters was named head coach of the Explorers on April 8, 1963, he became the first alumnus to assume this position since Charles McGlone's three-year term ended at the end of the 1948-49 campaign.

Walters, 37, brings with him an outstanding portfolio of previous basketball experience, including a brilliant career as a player, a tenure as assistant to the highly-regarded Ken Loeffler at La Salle, and a five year term as a high school coach.

"One of the happiest and most enlightening years I've spent was under Ken," explains Walters, referring to the 1952-53 campaign when he was Loeffler's assistant.

Because of the death of his father, Walters was forced to resign this position at the end of the season to devote full attention to his family's prosperous plumbing and air-conditioning contracting business.

As a player, Walters was known for his great shooting, especially from the outside. He led the Explorers in scoring all four years of his varsity career (1943-47), finishing with a total of 1,193 points, which made him the all-time La Salle scoring leader until Larry Foust surpassed him three years later.

In the 1945-46 season, Walters, a 5'10" guard, scored 367 points, then a Pennsylvania state scoring record. A two-time captain of the Explorers, Walters had the distinction of being the captain of La Salle's first post-season tournament team in 1947, when the Explorers finished runnerup in the Middle Atlantic Conference tourney.

Walters was named to Philadelphia's All-City team three times and received All-State and honorable mention All American recognition in his senior year.

A native of Philadelphia, Walters attended St. Joseph's Prep. After graduating from La Salle College, he was head coach at Philadelphia's Roman Catholic High School for five seasons. Opposing coaches in the Catholic League at the time were Jack Kraft, of Villanova, and Jack Ramsay, of St. Joseph's, so Walters is no stranger to Big Five coaching techniques.

Walters is a former president of La Salle's Endowment Foundation and present co-chairman of the college's Special Gifts Committee. A resident of suburban Meadowbrook, Pa., he and his wife, Frances, have four children: Susan, 18; Robert W., Jr., 14; William, 13, and Christopher 11.

Joseph W. Heyer

Freshman Basketball Coach

(First Season)

Joseph W. Heyer, one of the finest all-around guards in La Salle College history, returns to the Explorers for his collegiate coaching debut after a highly successful tenure at Philadelphia's Cardinal Dougherty High.

After graduating from La Salle in 1960, Heyer guided the Cardinals to the final game of the Catholic League Playoffs all three years of his coaching reign. His overall record was 54-20.

Heyer also coached baseball and taught history and gym at Cardinal Dougherty. He plans to continue his teaching duties while working for a Masters degree in Education at Temple University, besides coaching the Explorer yearlings.

A 25 year-old native of Philadelphia, Heyer scored a total of 928 points during his varsity career at La Salle from 1957 to 1960. During the 1958-59 campaign, he became only the fourth junior in La Salle history to go over the 400 point mark in single-season scoring, finishing with 402.

Heyer was named to the Middle Atlantic Conference First team in his junior year, and Philadelphia's All Big Five team, the following campaign.

PROSPECTS FOR THE SEASON

By Coach Bob Walters

Despite the fact that La Salle will be facing its toughest schedule in history with an entirely new playmaking combination in the backcourt, we look forward to a very interesting season.

Look for numerous changes in our offensive and defensive patterns with the emphasis on speed. Just how rapidly the players adjust to the new system will probably determine the Explorers' ultimate success this year. Hustle, good defense and a consistency of good fundamentals are our immediate objectives.

Included among the six lettermen returning from last year's N.I.T. squad are three starters who form a strong scoring and rebounding nucleus in the frontcourt. Frank Corace, the 6'6" senior forward who led the team in scoring a year ago, appears headed for another great campaign. He has developed new moves and looks much better on defense. The key, however, lies in the performance of our big men, 6'8" center Walt Sampson and 6'7" forward George Sutor. If they can use their height to good advantage consistently, many problems will be solved.

Reserves Al Tezla and Harry Carpenter, who did some good rebounding for us a year ago, add depth to the forward wall.

We face a major rebuilding job in the backcourt to replace graduated co-captains Tony Abbott and Bill Raftery. Chief candidates at the moment appear to be John Hart, who displayed some good outside shooting last year but lacks playmaking experience; Joe Cunnane, a junior who missed a valuable year of experience because of ankle injuries, and Curt Fromal, who returns to school as a junior after a year's absence. Fromal has looked impressive in practice and could be the real "sleeper" in the backcourt.

Other prospects include guard-forwards Joe Lynch and Frank Gutekunst. Lynch saw some limited varsity action a year ago and Gutekunst, a sophomore, has shown good hustle and defense in practice. Sophomores Rich Townsend, and Tom Danzi round out the squad and could move up with experience, although Danzi has been bothered by a bad knee.

As I mentioned before, the sooner the players adjust to our new system, the better off we will be against such opponents as the perennial Big Five powers and Creighton, Duquesne, Utah State and Louisville, Miami, Seton Hall and Western Kentucky, among others. One thing for sure — this team will pull a few surprises this season.

Meet The Explorers

(*) Returning Lettermen

*HARRY J. CARPENTER—Jr.—22—6'5"—185—Philadelphia

One of the most pleasant surprises of 1962-63, Harry emerged as a valuable front-line reserve, especially in rebounding. Size of his opponent makes little difference when it comes to battling for a loose ball; Harry usually comes up with it. He also dispelled any doubts about his shooting ability by connecting on 28 of 60 shots from the field (46.7%). His best game came against Lehigh when he hit for 11 points and grabbed 17 rebounds, both career highs. An Industrial Management major, the prematurely graying Carpenter played center for present Villanova Coach Jack Kraft at Bishop Neumann High.

*FRANK C. CORACE—Sr.—21—6'6"—210—Drexel Hill, Pa.

La Salle's captain, an "explosive type" ball-player, Frank developed into one of the nation's best collegiate forwards last year. A devastating jump shot carried him to a team-leading total of 441 points during the year, making him only the fifth junior in La Salle history to pass the 400 point mark in a single season. He accomplished this despite a pair of stubborn injuries—a dislocated left index finger and a sprained ankle, not to mention an attack of the virus that left him noticeably weakened. He was third on the team in rebounding, with 226, and gained quite a reputation for his fine "second effort." Frank went over the 20 point mark 13 times during the year, with his career high of 30 coming against Penn. He enjoyed perhaps his finest all-around game against Temple (21 points and 15 rebounds to lead both teams), prompting the Owls' veteran coach, Harry Litwack to label him a "real All American candidate." Frank has gone scoreless only once in his college career (when he was removed from last year's Lehigh game after dislocating a finger in the opening minutes), and has failed to score in double figures only three other times (all as a sophomore). A former scholastic All American at Monsignor Bonner High, Frank's frosh scoring average of 26.8 is still a school record. He averaged 15.4 points a game to become the team's second leading scorer as a sophomore, and now has a total of 810 points on the varsity, making him virtually a cinch to become the school's seventh player in the coveted 1,000 point circle. Honors last year included first team recognition on Philadelphia's All Big Five and Middle Atlantic Conference squads, third team recognition on the All East team, and honorable mention on the Converse All American Squad. He also received Player of the Week awards from the Big Five and ECAC. Frank's majoring in Business Administration.

JOSEPH T. (JOE) CUNNANE—Jr.—20—6'0"—170—Phila.

Joe was slated to be one of the top back-court reserves last year, but was able to play only one game due to a broken ankle suffered in pre-season practice, his second such break in two years. Then after returning to action against Muhlenberg, he sprained his other ankle in practice, a fitting climax to "that kind of year." Now fitted with a special pair of protective arches, Joe vows to complete this season unscathed, which should give La Salle's thin backcourt a big lift. He's a good playmaker who led the freshmen in assists and averaged 9.2 points a game two years ago. A former co-captain of La Salle High's varsity, Joe is majoring in Accounting.

JOSEPH T. (TOM) DANZI

Soph.—18—6'3"—192—Oneonta, N. Y.
Tom got off to a slow start living up to his high-scoring scholastic reputation last year, but came on with a late spurt to lead the freshmen with 156 points for a 13.0 average. He has a prolific jump shot and rebounds fairly well, but could stand some improvement in other phases of play, especially defense. As a senior he averaged 24 points a game to lead Bouton (N. Y.) High to the Capital District League crown with a 17-1 record. He also starred in baseball in high school and hopes to do the same this spring at La Salle. A product of the same area that produced La Salle's John Hart, Danzi is majoring in pre-med at La Salle.

CURTIS (CURT) FROMAL—Jr.—22—5'9"—146—Folsom, Pa.

Best known for his dazzling fast-break maneuvers and flashy ballhandling, Curt could be the real "sleeper" in La Salle's back-court this year—especially if he regains the shooting eye that branded him one of the hottest performers on the 1959-60 freshman team with a 21 point average. In the three years since then, Curt has been able to play only one varsity season, 1961-62. Academic difficulties forced him to drop out of school after his freshman year, and the tragic death of his father and subsequent illness of his mother forced withdrawal again last season. Curt's best games offensively were eight point performances against Villanova and Millersville, but his most memorable moments involved a remarkable defensive job on Villanova's outstanding Hubie White when he held the latter to only six shots in the first half and forced him to pick up three early personal fouls. Despite fine effort, La Salle lost, 65-63. A former All-State star at Ridley Township High, Curt is majoring in Business.

1961-62	13	8	12	15	28

FRANK N. GUTEKUNST—Soph.—19—6'1"—175—Philadelphia

A promising guard-forward from La Salle High, Frank could help, especially in the backcourt if he improves scoring touch. He tallied 75 points in 12 freshman games last year, but improved considerably as season wore on. So far, he has been the most impressive sophomore in practice with some solid defensive play and good hustle. His best game last year was 16 points against Penn. Frank's majoring in Chemistry.

JOHN M. (YAZU) HART*Jr.—20—6'0"—170—Hudson, N. Y.

The top backcourt reserve last year, John has a chance to nail down a starting slot. He has a tremendous outside jumper capable to ripping opposing zone defenses to pieces. Moreover, he never shot below 50% in his life until he tailed off at the end of the 1962-63 season and wound up at 40.4%. At mid-year, however, he was hitting at a 58.1 clip, a sensational percentage for a part-time player. He needs a little more polish in play-making and ball control. John's best games last year were 10 point performances against Lehigh and Bucknell. He was an All-State basketball star at Hudson's (N. Y.) St. Mary's Academy where he also lettered in baseball and tennis. Nickname: "Yazu" is Greek for "John." He's majoring in Accounting.

JOSEPH F. LYNCH—Jr.—20—6'3"—185—Philadelphia

Joe is capable of playing either guard or forward, but didn't see much action until mid-season last year. He played quite a bit against Canisius and Georgetown and impressed with some heads-up work, especially under the boards. Joe doesn't shoot much as his high game of two points against Lafayette, Lehigh and Georgetown indicate. He co-captained La Salle High's team with Joe Cunnane and made All Catholic as a senior. He's majoring in English.

GERALD A. (GERRY) MARANOSoph.—19—6'4"—190—Lafayette Hill, Pa.

As a center on last year's freshman team, Gerry didn't score much (64 points in 12 games), but held his own in rebounding with 84, the second best total on the team. Slated for reserve duty in the frontcourt. He's a graduate of La Salle High where he captained team and made All Catholic. High game last year was 12 points and 13 rebounds against Penn. He's a Chemistry major.

WALTER LEE SAMPSON—Sr.—23—6'8"—205—Houston, Tex.

Although he hit career highs in scoring and rebounding last year, Walt's overall performance fell off a little after a highly promising sophomore year. He scored only 188 points as compared to 250 the previous year, and lost his team rebounding title to sophomore George Sutor. Still, he hit a career high of 21 points against Bucknell and set a short-lived Quaker City Tourney rebound record of 24 against Delaware. His best all-around game came two years ago when he scored 20 points and grabbed 14 rebounds against powerful Dayton in Holiday Festival. As a sophomore, he seemed to do his best against the stronger teams such as Cincinnati, St. Joseph's, Western Kentucky and Villanova. Walt is one of team's best defensive players and has an unusually soft touch from the outside for a man his size. A transfer student from Pan American College, Edinboro, Texas (where he averaged 24 points and 21 rebounds a game), Walt is majoring in Business Administration.

GEORGE J. SUTOR—Jr.—21—6'7"—225—Philadelphia

One of the most promising sophomores in the country last year, George earned himself a starting berth in La Salle's second game, against Lafayette, by coming off the bench with the score tied, scoring eight points in less than 40 seconds, and sparking La Salle to a 95-59 win. He finished as the team's leading rebounder with 268 (11.6 average) and third top scorer with 321 (13.4 average). Sutor's career high is 26 against Gettysburg; his rebounding high is 23 against Brigham Young. Against Lehigh he connected on 8 of his first 9 shots from the field and finished with 25 points. He did his best to keep La Salle in NIT game against St. Louis with 17 points (6 for 9 from field) and team high of 9 rebounds. George was a third team scholastic All American center at Father Judge High; made the switch to forward at La Salle with little difficulty. He still needs polish on some moves. Came to practice 20 pounds lighter this year. He's majoring in Pre-law.

ALEXANDER D. TEZSLA—Jr.—20—6'4"—205—Trenton, N. J.

Strong as an ox under the boards, Al's hustle and rebounding ability just might win him a starting berth this year. All he needs is a little more offensive polish to become an outstanding forward. He started occasionally a year ago but was hampered by a sprained ankle that bothered him throughout the season. Still, he topped the team twice in rebounding with 7 against Creighton and 12 against Miami, and picked up 10 vital rebounds to help upset Bowling Green. Al's career high is 11 points against Lafayette.

He was an All Delaware Valley selection as a center at Trenton Catholic High where he was a teammate of Seton Hall's high-scoring Nick Werkman. As a La Salle freshman, he responded with 14.5 rebounds and 13.8 points a game. Al is majoring in Economics.
